

FAMILY CLINIC

Should we tell the children?

By JOHN L. THOMAS, S.J. After raising seven children and thirty years of marriage, my husband has started dating a young girl. At first he lied, saying he was attending evening business meetings. Now he argues there's nothing wrong in taking a girl to a movie. What should I do? He just laughs at me when I tell him it's not right. Should I tell the children? They think their father is a wonderful man? ... As the saying goes, "There's no fool like an old fool." ... The absurdity of the situation is a mere matter of difference in age.

But such affairs are not merely futile and absurd. They necessarily involve serious violations of justice. The marriage contract unites husband and wife in a sacred, indissoluble union that by its very nature demands total commitment to mutual support, service, loyalty and love throughout life. Marriage partners do not have the freedom to limit this total commitment. They pledge to give themselves wholly to each other. They become one. Even in tragic cases when conjugal love or affection seem impossible, they are not free to give or seek these elsewhere.

Your husband's shallow attitude suggests that he feels he is doing nothing wrong because he has not yet had marital relations with this girl. He is utterly wrong on two scores. First, his marriage binds him to more than the observance of physical fidelity. He has no right to confer this type of affection and attention on anyone except his wife. Second, there is the matter of serious scandal. It must be getting on your mind that your husband is doing this. What can you do? ... What can you do? You say he won't consent a priest because he insists he's doing nothing wrong. Since he just laughs at your protests, you'll gain nothing from talking with him yourself. Under these circumstances, it seems to me you have little choice. You should take the problem to your pastor or a priest whom you can ask his help. This may be difficult for you because you do not like to spoil your husband's reputation by him yourself. Under these circumstances, it seems to me you have little choice. You should take the problem to your pastor or a priest whom you can ask his help. This may be difficult for you because you do not like to spoil your husband's reputation by him yourself. Under these circumstances, it seems to me you have little choice.

Faiths to promote

fair housing laws

ST. PAUL—Representatives of the three major religions will sponsor a luncheon meeting for Minnesota legislators to demonstrate interfaith support for fair housing laws. The session in Christ Lutheran church on January 18 will be sponsored by the Catholic Interracial Council of the Twin Cities, the Minnesota Council of Churches and the Minnesota Rabbinical Association. The Rev. Alton Motter, associate executive secretary of the Minnesota Council of Churches, a federation of Protestant bodies, said the meeting's purpose is to acquaint lawmakers with "the common ethical concerns" of the religions for laws to eliminate discrimination in the field of housing.

THE YARDSTICK

'Forgotten American'

By MSGR. GEORGE HIGGINS A group of men who have been characterized as "progressive Catholics" recently issued a 29-page manifesto designed to appeal to "The Forgotten American." The manifesto defines "The Forgotten American" as "that draughted and ignored individual—Catholic and non-Catholic—who is not being represented by the political organization to which he belongs in whole or in part. The number of such Americans is said to be literally scores of millions." ... They all agree with certain reservations—that the UAW Public Review Board is effectively serving the purpose for which it was established, and in the words of Dr. Clark Kerr's Introduction to their report, has given a practical demonstration of the fact that "the problem of bureaucracy and individual rights can be dealt with in the non-governmental level."

Should you tell the children?

Should you tell the children? If your pastor can't get him to drop this affair, you should help from the children, at least, from the five that are married and consequently mature enough to be made to pay for you. But your husband is casting a shadow on their family name, and if he continues in this affair, it is unlikely they won't hear about it anyway. There is some possibility that you can bring him to his senses. This probably values their health. Getting him to stop this affair is only the first step, however. You would do well to consult a competent lawyer to find out what his happened to your marriage. What's the source of the trouble? Do you enjoy any social life together? Are you careful of justice? Have you taken each other too much for granted? Etc., etc. Something has gone wrong after all these years. You should have a serious obligation to find out what it is and what you can do about it.

Public Review Board

Public Review Board analyzes and reports on labor disputes. The Board, under the leadership of Walter Oberer, the first Executive Director of the UAW Public Review Board, is now Professor of Law at the University of Texas, who outlines the philosophy of public review; and Michael Harrington, labor specialist and member of the staff of the Fund for the Republic, who reports on the reaction of UAW members to the Board and to the Board's assessment of its impact at the local level. ... They all agree with certain reservations—that the UAW Public Review Board is effectively serving the purpose for which it was established, and in the words of Dr. Clark Kerr's Introduction to their report, has given a practical demonstration of the fact that "the problem of bureaucracy and individual rights can be dealt with in the non-governmental level."

LIMITLESS TRUST

In the Providence of God is a special virtue of members of every Religious Community of Sisters. Fabulous is the popular belief that the more one trusts in God, the more God will bless one's efforts. ... Twenty five years ago a group of CARMELITE SISTERS started a school in a small house in the village of NARAKKAL in INDIA. The school developed rapidly and is now one of the largest in that part of the world. ... Commies in Hungary

VIENNA—Hungary's Red rulers are intensifying their campaign to convince the world that the Church lives freely and even prosperously in that communist state. ... Press officers say that Hungarian legislators in various countries are spearheading the campaign abroad. They are flooding editorial offices with letters complaining bitterly about articles impugning freedom of religion in Hungary. ... The press officers assert that such articles are based on false information and misrepresentation of the Hungarian government's policy. They generally offer what they declare are the facts.

Tuition payments to Catholic school out of by group BENNINGTON, Vt.—The Greater Bennington Schools, Inc., has decided not to make any further payments to a Catholic high school from public tax funds. ... The court recently ruled that such payments from public funds violate the state and Federal Constitutions. Mr. Jones said the problem of adjusting to the court's decision is a matter which "will have to be faced by the Vermont Board of Education."

Mauriac's reflections

By D. B. THEALL, O.S.B. The English translation of the first volume of Francois Mauriac's autobiographical series, "French Life. Memories Intermittentes" (Farrar, Straus, and Cudahy, $4.75) probably because even the title is a bit of a misnomer. ... "Perhaps the work should not be called an autobiography or a memoir series. It is reflections on the deeper meanings of life and literature, accompanied by a relatively small amount of factual information." ... Along with these subjective reflections on the ultimate questions of human existence, Mauriac is concerned to set down his evaluations of contemporary life.

Senator proposes

Interfaith Day WASHINGTON—A proposal for an annual "Interfaith Day" has been introduced in Congress. ... The resolution would authorize the President to issue an annual proclamation in connection with the extension and urging its observance by all citizens. ... A similar measure was approved by the Senate in the 96th Congress, but the House of Representatives did not take action on it. The resolution was referred to the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Cage tourney firing ready to open

Although no pairings had been received from deeraries outside of Indianapolis at this writing, the first round of Archdiocesan Archery for the start of the Capital City Cadet and Junior deerary tournaments next week, close on the heels of the regular season.

Following last year's plan, the upper-class high schoolers have been split into two camps, with Division Two plus half of Division One in the "A" tournament and Division Three plus the other half of One in the "B" competition.

THE SCHEDULES, which were mailed Monday by the CYO Office, show the league powers to be pretty well distributed throughout the pairings, leading to hopes for tightly-contested semi-final and final rounds.

AT DCCW LUNCHEON—Mrs. Leo Brand, president of the Indianapolis Diocese Council of Catholic Women, center, greets Miss Marie Kleinkoff, one of the honored guests at the DCCW annual luncheon which was held in the Claypool Hotel on January 18. Miss Kleinkoff, of Lakeville, Ind., is National Director of the NCCW Province of Indianapolis as well as Third National Vice-President. At right is Mrs. Russell Wilson, of Clinton, president of the Archdiocesan Council of Catholic Women, another honored guest. Father Paul Courtney was principal speaker at the affair, which was attended by more than 400 persons. (Staff photo)

• ANNE CULKIN

Thinks she's a 'nobody'

Dear Miss Culklin:

Have you ever felt like a failure? Well, I seem to nearly every day. I see where I wasn't elected, this or that and I know I've mostly failed in the popularity line.

Then there's a boy I like very much. He's fun to be with. Tonight he brought Janie and Janet just took over. She is just she knows just what to say and how to remain the center of attention. I felt just like a 14-year-old wheel. Next to her my conversation was just dull. Angry this boy seemed to forget I was there.

How can I be more gay and attractive, Miss Culklin? How can I broaden my personality? I've prayed for help, believe me, and I don't want to be selfish. But it's hard to be a nobody while others are having fun. What can I do? Mary Anne

Dear Mary Anne:

Just where are the human beings who have not felt failure and defeat? But most of us somehow find the courage to recover ourselves and to try again. The source of this renewal is within us, and, as you already know, it springs from prayer. You do well to use it.

Recognize as a fact, Mary Anne, that there is nothing at all unique about your problem. How many other girls at your school—yes, within your own class—have also failed to win this or that office. Are not most of them popular people in spite of it?

Now just what constitutes an attractive feminine personality? Surely there are boys who are attracted to Miss Personality Plus with her sparkling line of chatter. But there are even more young men who prefer the quiet girl, especially when she gives them center stage. One even suspects that wives are more frequently selected from the latter than from the former group.

Therefore, Mary Anne, don't have a defeatist attitude. Happiness in life is found by realizing our limitations and turning them into assets. How futile it would be to painfully adopt a new and scintillating personality only to discover that our old self was better loved!

Dear Miss Culklin:

At our high school, cheating in exams seems to be the thing to do. Some of the guys even got hold of one quiz before it was given and they passed. They had the laugh on us who just got by or failed. What gives? Honest Joe

Dear Honest Joe:

Cheating operates on the notion that you can get something for nothing—a view that can't be reconciled with the harsh facts of daily living. Oh, sure, some students may get by a particular exam or even a course, but meanwhile they are caught up in the fatal blunder of getting without giving. Can you, yourself, Joe, think of a business or a profession where the "easy way out" will lead to success and achievement? Beyond this highly practical consideration, there's the more important fact that we are judged by all the actions of our life. Cheating is stealing. The Seventh Commandment is there for keeps, and your classmates can't ignore this no matter what they may think.

Engaged couples' course compulsory

CLEVELAND—Archbishop Edward F. Hogan has directed a minimum pre-marriage instruction program to be followed in all parishes of the Cleveland diocese.

The directive requires engaged couples to have a minimum of four private conferences with parish priests. Major points to be covered include: duties of a husband and wife; duties toward children; preparation for, and, the holiness of marriage.

In issuing the directive, the Bishop of Cleveland said there long had been a feeling among his priests that a standard direction was needed because some parishes gave extended pre-marriage course, others less.

Catholic school situation in Ceylon more critical

COLOMBO, Ceylon—The plight of Catholic schools in Ceylon, faced with government seizure, is worsening.

Only 70 of 704 vernacular Catholic schools—whose management was supposed to have been taken over by the government on December 1—are now in operation. Parents of the students are still occupying many Catholic schools to prevent seizure.

MEANWHILE, the government has announced plans to summon Faithfuls to enact a law to take over ownership of all schools without compensation. The hierarchy has protested the proposed law, terming it "drastic legislation which is without parallel in any democratic country."

At the same time the Bishops reiterated their "willingness to arrive at a fair and just settlement of this vexed question." Despite this, a government spokesman told a conference of Buddhist leaders that Catholic demands would not be considered until after the legislation on school seizure had been enacted.

TWO CATHOLIC lay leaders have been negotiating with Government officials to try to reach a solution to the school crisis. Catholic school authorities have announced that the thousands of children who are pupils in the schools which have remained closed would not be made to suffer since plans were being made to provide them with regular schooling. However, a government spokesman warned that Catholics who opened new private schools for these students would be penalized.

In another development, the courts have rescinded injunctions which had been obtained by promoters of Catholic schools to prevent unauthorized persons from entering the schools in an effort to create a disturbance.

This action by the courts results in a return to the situation which existed on December 23 when Acting Cabinet Chairman C.P. de Silva announced that the government had ordered police protection withdrawn from the Catholic schools which were occupied by parents of the students. Some incidents at these schools have been reported already.

Spain Bishop hits 'pressure' by laity

BILBAO, Spain—Bishop Pablo Gargallo Boepe of Bilbao has protested a glibist pressure brought on him by the laity regarding the transfer of priests in this Basque region in northern Spain.

"The right and duty of administering a diocese is, in the final analysis, the bishop's affair," he said.

Bishop Gargallo called the independence of ecclesiastical authority a fundamental principle in the welfare of Catholics. He said the apostolic collaboration of the laity must unfold "when, where and how" the hierarchy of the Church deems it appropriate.

God's work must be ours, President tells nation

WASHINGTON—John F. Kennedy assumed the duties of President of the United States with a solemn warning to his countrymen that "there on earth God's work must truly be our own."

He had taken the oath of office, his left hand resting on a Douay version of the Bible that has been in the possession of his grandmother, the widow of former Boston Mayor John F. Fitzgerald.

Before that Cardinal Richard Cushing offered a prayer "that we may know... our personal responsibilities" as men, as Americans, as citizens of the world, as children of God. The Archbishop of Boston also asked God to give President Kennedy, his cabinet, the Congress and the courts—"and all of us—the grace 'to perform with full personal responsibility our duties' as free men and as American citizens."

Georgetown home to Holy Trinity Church, where he attended a Mass offered at 9 a.m. by Father Anderson E. Bakewell, S.J., assistant pastor. Father Martin J. Casey, S.J., the pastor, presided at the President-elect.

A half-hour earlier, Cardinal Cushing offered a Pontifical Low Mass in the National Shrine at the Immaculate Conception, across the city, for the welfare of the nation, and for the officials of the executive, legislative and judicial branches of the government.

REPRESENTATIVES of three other faiths offered prayers at the inauguration ceremony, asking divine guidance and protection for President Kennedy and his administration, noting the troubled times in which it comes to authority. These clergymen included Rev. Dr. John Barclay, pastor of the Central Christian Church, Austin, Tex.; Archbishop Iakovos of the Greek Orthodox Archdiocese of North and South America, and Rabbi Nelson Glueck, president of the Hebrew Union College of Cincinnati.

His Holiness Pope John XXIII sent a cablegram to President Kennedy on inauguration day, invoking "divine assistance for the high mission to which you have been called." The Holy Father also sent a cablegram to Dwight D. Eisenhower, who was relinquishing eight years as President.

Seek tax share, Catholics urged

NEW YORK—Catholics were urged here to ask that some of their tax money be given to Catholic schools.

Father John A. Flynn, C.M., president of St. John's University, Jamaica, made the appeal in an address at the 11th annual Communion breakfast of the Motion Picture Industry in New York.

The Vincentian said that 23 per cent of the population is made up of Catholics who pay educational taxes, but "we get no money from these taxes."

CATHOLIC CHARITY CHICAGO—Catholic Charities of Chicago topped the $10 million mark in assistance in 1960 for the first time in its 43-year history.

TO CONDUCT CLASS—Father Charles Koster, M.A., Official of the Archdiocesan Marriage Tribunal, will conduct a weekend class in Dogmatic Theology at the Indiana University Students' Catholic Center, Bloomington, beginning February 12. The course, open to Catholic students and their friends, will be held on Sunday evenings at 7 p.m. As a guidebook, the students will use "The Faith Explained," by Leo J. Trese. Father Trese's book is currently being serialized in The Criterion each week on Page Seven.

Art class scheduled for exceptional pupils

A weekly art class for grade school youngsters, with exceptional talent will be offered at St. Mary's School, Indianapolis, beginning on Saturday, Feb. 25. The class will be sponsored by a newly created Creative Arts Board, under the auspices of the Archdiocesan School Office, Special Education Department.

The program is designed to encourage creativity in sixth, seventh and eighth grade pupils in Indianapolis-area Catholic schools. Although limited at the beginning to art instruction, the Creative Arts Board eventually will be broadened to include expressive writing and dramatics.

FIVE INDIANAPOLIS artists have volunteered one morning a month for art instruction. Headed by Sister Rita Ann, S.P., of St. James the Greater School, the group includes Mrs. Frank Schwartzel of St. Malachy parish, Brownsburg; Mrs. Joseph Niesso of Immaculate Heart of Mary parish; Mrs. S. S. Slambaugh of Christ the King parish; and Mrs. Philip Lutz of St. Joan of Arc parish.

Other members of the Board include: Sister Mary Jane, O.S.F., and Sister Dolores, O.S.F., of Marianum College; Miss Freda Popp of St. Joan of Arc parish; and Mrs. C. T. Luckhart of the Special Education Department. Board membership is open to interested persons with available time.

THE INITIAL class will be limited to 20 youngsters, selected on the basis of previous art works submitted to the Board. Any youngster interested in the program is asked to submit a portfolio of as many as 15 original pieces of art. Deadline for entries

President Kennedy 'most-prayed-for,' Billy Graham says

PALM BEACH, Fla.—Evangelist Billy Graham said he believes that President Kennedy "will be the most prayed-for man in the world."

The Southern Baptist evangelist and the first Catholic Chief Executive renewed acquaintance during a golf game and a luncheon arranged here by Sen. George S. Smathers of Florida. Mr. Kennedy stood beside the Rev. Mr. Graham at a press conference. Board membership is open to interested persons with available time.

"The Bible teaches that we are to pray for those in authority," the evangelist said. "And I believe that the President, President Kennedy, will become the most prayed-for man in the world, praying that God will give him courage and wisdom, because he is going to face some of the most awesome problems that any man in history has faced."

The Rev. Mr. Graham paid tribute to the losing Republican ticket, Richard M. Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge, for not bringing the religious issue into the campaign. He said that Mr. Kennedy "passed a great many years" about a Catholic President through his "forthright statements."

Tribute is paid to Doctor Fisher

LONDON—Cardinal William Godfrey, Archbishop of Westminster, paid tribute here to Dr. Geoffrey Francis Fisher, retiring Archbishop of Canterbury, for "his devoted services to our nation, his patriotism, and his sincere desire and endeavor to promote and foster the union of Christians."

Triad Concert slated tonight

The popular Columbians, Knights of Columbus Council 427 singing group directed by Edward Krieger, will appear in the 18th annual Triad Concert tonight (Friday) in the Murat Theater. Sharing the program will be the Maecmerchor of the Athenaeum Turners and the Chanters of Murat Temple of the Shrine.

The concert will be taped for telecast on WFDM-TV (6) on Saturday, Jan. 28, at 9:30 p.m. It will also be broadcast on Sunday, Jan. 29, over WIBC Radio from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. and WIBC-FM from 6 to 7 p.m.

"This desire," he said, "is shared by many not of his faith and not least by Catholics everywhere. The recent visit of His Grace to Pope John XXIII was a gesture we all greatly appreciate. We hope and pray with the archbishop that it may bear fruit, that any misunderstandings may be removed and that no element of bitterness may disturb the concord among those who seek to follow Christ."

Cardinal Godfrey added that "we pray also that His Grace may have health and happiness in his years of retirement. May they be many and greatly blessed." Dr. Fisher is retiring as of May 31 and Dr. Arthur Michael Ramsey, Archbishop of York, has been named to succeed him.

ment regulation of union activities. It is too bad that the above mentioned actions are necessary, but history has proven that they are. Further, until these actions are finally taken, history will continue to record our failure in
